

Rachel Corpus

Angel in a human body.

Channel. Medium. Teacher.

About me

Hi, I'm Rachel - an Angel in a human body.

I come from the angelic realm and it gives me great joy (and sometimes great challenges, too!) that I get to simultaneously live my multi-dimensional and my human self. I mean, how can it get any better than that?!

I've been psychic my whole life and my world has always been full of play, communication and interaction with non-physical beings: angels, guides, galactic friends and people who have crossed over.

One thing I know for sure: Everyone has intuitive gifts. Everyone is able to receive intuitive information and engage with multi-dimensional beings. These inner senses belong to us like our physical ones and we can awaken them through gentle collaboration with Spirit.

It is my purpose in this life to help people remember that they are Source. I do this through my channelling, teaching, my podcast Angel Talk, interviews and speaking engagements.

If you'd like to have a conversation and dive with your listeners into how they, too, can live a life full of divine magic, I'd be happy to be your guest! It might even happen that I receive messages for you and your audience!

Rachel Corpus - Bio

Rachel Corpus is an Angel, an actual Angel in a human body, who came into physical form to learn and teach how to live a fulfilled life in deep connection with Source. She was born with the ability to experience things that others could not easily see or feel. Some of her earliest memories are of watching an angel sing above her crib or playing with ghost children from the nearby cemetery.

Early in her life Rachel experienced her first of many near death experiences when her family was in a severe car accident. She remembers going to the other side and being shown what her life could be like if she decided to return as a healer and a teacher of many. After coming back, she experienced her gifts getting stronger and stronger.

Daily meditations, study, and absolute faith in God helped Rachel grow into the spiritual person she is today. As a professional channel, Rachel plays fluidly in the quantum realm and the multiverse of parallel realities. She works in collaboration with angels, ascended masters, people on the other side and high-vibrational extraterrestrials.

The best part of Rachel's life today is helping others remember their Divinity, uncover their natural gifts and evolve into their best selves. She is committed to being a liaison for Spirit, ready to adapt to any need, being, or situation that Spirit presents.

In the three-dimensional world, Rachel loves painting, watching movies and spending time with her favorite people: her husband, three kids and her animals.

How do you do what you do?

I'm a conscious, collaborative channel, which means I am fully aware and collaborating when channeling, becoming the liaison for Spirit and those seeking connection. I switch back and forth between channeling and accompanying my clients in their experience of receiving and integrating the information that is coming through. They often say that sessions with me are profound and full of lightness at the same time.

While I channel certain energies more often than others, I connect to a variety of beings like angels, ascended masters, high-vibrational extraterrestrial beings, loved ones on the other side and animals.

How do I do that? My most prominent psychic senses are clairvoyance and clairaudience. And I can see, hear, feel and sense Spirit beings with my physical senses as well. This might seem supernatural, but it has always been completely normal to me. For me, channeling is a mind-body-soul-joy experience.

Every being in our universe has its own frequency and we simply get to match it to communicate effectively. When I speak with the angels or any other being, I do exactly that: I match their frequency. Once that happens, the communication begins. You might find me laughing, smiling or experiencing a distinct voice change as I connect with Spirit.

I share my gifts in 1-2-1 sessions, group experiences, special events (both online and in person) and through my podcast Angel Talk.

Angel Talk Podcast

The paranormal and spiritual world are exciting!

In the weekly episodes of her podcast Angel Talk Rachel Corpus, an actual Angel in human form, uncovers the truth about angels, ghosts, past lives, soul contracts, our soul purpose and more.

Rachel - channel, medium and teacher - supports her audience in learning how to tap into their own intuitive gifts, how to communicate back and forth with Spirit, and how to live their best life, one step at a time. Most importantly though, the show is about learning who we are through the lens of wonder and love.

Helpers in this journey are the listeners' personal angels, Spirit guides, friends and family on the other side, extraterrestrial friends, and experts in the spiritual and paranormal fields.

Angel Talk began in 2020 and is popular around the world.
